

He'll Spend His Evenings At Home If You Buy Him A Player-Piano

The problem of keeping the youth away from bad companions and objectionable places can be met by placing in the home attractions that will make outside amusements lose their allurements.

Youth craves companionship, song, music. A Player-Piano supplies these. Young men, (to say nothing about the girls) like to gather around such an instrument, where, with no previous training, they can flood the house with melody. And the best part about it is that the variety of music at their command, makes it a pleasure that never fails to attract.

Make it a point to stop at my store and let me demonstrate to you why it is such a popular instrument with the young people. Sold on easy payments.

Y. W. C. A. HAS ITS ANNUAL MEETING; WOMEN'S CLUB ENTERTAINED BY READER

Women's Christian association/held Women's Christian association, held Friday evening at the association rooms, was most enjoyable, the reports of the various departments taking the form largely of demonstrations rather than the mere reading of figures though statistics were not lacking, being presented by means of posters. Hinstrative posters also formed a part of the decorations of the rooms. Chrysanthemums in yellow and white, the association colors, with white carnations and streamers, were used with pleasing effect.

The Work of the Year.

The Work of the Year.

The president, Mra. Henry T. Bowle, presided. Rev. C. W. Webdell led in prayer. The minutes of the last meeting were read by Mrs. Heil Hale. The treasurer's report, given by Mrs. W. C. Davis, showed that the association expended during 1912, $17,495.54, and opened the new year with a balance of $117,32. Miss Florence Hanson, as goneral secretary, reviewed the work of the association for the year and told in general of the plans for 1913.

Board of Directors,
Mrs. P. A. Hodge read the report of the nominating committee, which was accepted, and the following declared elected to the board of directors: Mrs. H. B. Durkee, Mrs. F. A. Hödge, Mrs. W. C. Davis, Mrs. Heil Hale, Mrs. J. A. Rawlings and Mrs. H. A. Lay; Mrs. R. Y. Anderson and Miss Anna Franklin were elected to fill vacancies caused by the resignations of Dr. M. I. Hill and Mrs. Laura Bond. For the term which expires in 1915 Mrs. A. J. Robertson was elected to take the place of Mrs. J. R. Harper.

Gymnasium Exhibition.

Greetings from the Y. M. C. A. and El Paso in general were extended by T. J. Jones. One of the gymnasium classes under the direction of Miss Alice Davis gave an exhibition of fancy marching and indian club work, which was greatly enjoyed by the audience.

The membership committee's report. Mrs. J. A. Potter, chairman, showed 71% members, with 500 paid up to date. Mrs. Fotter is planning a membership campaign for the near future, with 1000 new members as the goal to be reached. Mrs. G. A. Thumm reported that the past year has been the most successful in the history of the lunch room, 20,353 meals having been served.

Year's Bible Work.

Three Bible classes have been held during the year under the auspices of the religious work department. Mrs. Howard burkes, chairman. The work was demonstrated by two very pretty inbleaux given by the class in Old Testament history—Rebekah at the well, and Ruth and Naomi. Miss Bertha Stanhope sang "Entreat Me Not to Leave Thee" during the last number.

One of the most interesting reports was that of the travelers' aid work done by Miss Blanche Gilbert. In the absence of the chairman of this department, Mrs. Sara Barger, Mrs. Hale read the zeport of the committe, which showed that over 1000 women and girls had been assisted during the year, not counting the refugees of last August.

Social Committee's Work.

A poster with yellow and white streamers, illustrating the work of the social cemmittee, was carried by six little girls. Marian Howe sang "Little Orphant Annie" Mrs. Wm. Hogarth is chairman of this committee, which gave a further demonstration of its work by the serving of tempting refreshments at the close of the program.

Mrs. T. J. Woodside reported that the boarding home, which was built for 40, was now being made to accommodate 55, the average cost for room and board being $22 a month.

The Camp Fire girls and their work was demonstrated by Miss Bertha L.

Miller, one of the guardians of three groups. Representatives of these three. gathered about a camp fire, while three other members performed the picturesque ceremonial rites, giving the law of the camp fire and the Wohelo cheer.

Report on Finances.

Report on Finances.

The last report was on finances, presented by Mrs. McA. Jones. The present campaign for finances. Mrs. Jones stated, is for the purpose of raising $1000 for a vacation lodge at cloud-croft on the lots given the association during the past year by the Clouderoft company, and $4500 for the purchase of the two lots adjacent to the boarding home on Missouri street on which it is planned to build an annex.

The last number on the program was a talk by Miss Mabel K. Stafford, sinte executive secretary for Texas. Miss Stafford expressed deep appreclation of the work of the El Paso association the past year. She told of the work as carried on in other Texas towns and cities, especially of an interesting experiment that is being made in extending the work to country districts.

Mrs. Hogarth, with the assistance of a faithful corps of helpers, served luncheon in the dining room, which was decorated with graceful, flower covered arches.

The regular monthly meeting of the music department of the Woman's club will be held on Wednesday afternoon, Feb. 12, in the assembly hall of Hotel Paso del Norte. The program ise in charge of Mrs. W. L. Brown and will be as follows:

Dinners and Luncheons

On Thursday evening Capt and Mrs. James Monroe Burroughs, 2d cavalry, entertained at Fort Bliss with a beautifully appointed dinner in honor of Cal, and Mrs. Rabert Reed.

The cavalry colors were most effectively carried out in the table appointments and in the decorations of the Burroughe's artistic quarters.

The table was covered with an elaborate cloth of Oriental embroidery and drawnwork, mounted en yellow siik.

A centerplece of jongulis in a brass bowl was surrounded by silver bon bon boxes filled with yellow mints. Yellow candles shaded with yellow silver mounted shades further ascentuated the color scheme.

Dainty Japanese place cards were used and at each woman's place was a corsage bouquet of jongulis, tied with yellow ribbons.

A delicious dinner of six courses was served. On Thursday evening Capt, and Mrs.

ETRAZZINI once sung to a handful in the Junrez theater. Mme.

ful in the Juarez theater. Mme. Labadis read to a half filled ballreom at the Hotel Pane del Norte Friday evening. If wonderfully rich, mellow tones, a charming personality and a dramatic ability of high order combine to make a dramatic reader, Mpe. Labadde is an artist.

Unknown professionally in El Paso, and reading 'The Great Galecto.' a Spanish tragedy little known, Mme. Labadde had a difficult task in reading to a small audience and with humping elevators and hissing steam pipes to interfere with her dramatic receital. Her charm and strikingly beautiful face won for her a sympathetic hearing and the remainder was easy. As soon as she had outlined the characters in the play and described the first act settling, she had aroused an intense interest in her work that increased to enthusiasm as she progressed into the play. She has no stage mannerisms. Her gestures are those of a refined and attractive woman. She does not rant as so many readers, socalled, in the heavier parts of the plays they interpret. There is a feeling of suppressed power while she is reading that makes her auditors feel that she is not exerting herself to her utmost. This, it has been said, is the surest indication of artistry.

Mme. Labadde has a most pleasing appearance before her audience. Her sweet, characterful face is framed in heautiful gray hair and her handsomely gowned figure completes the picture. Her interpretation of the Spanish tragedy is a wholesome, intelligent one and her memory is faultless, as she reads practically the entire book with few references to the text But it is her marvelous voice that charms completeity. It has the tone quality of a meadow lark or a nightingale. There are no harsh tones. The personality is lost in that wonderful voice which plays on the emotions as a master organist does his keys.

As a feat of elocution, Mme. Labadie's task is a large one. She inter-

In that wonderful voice which plays on the emotions as a master organist does his keys.

As a feat of elocution, Mme. Labadie's task is a large one. She interprets the characters of a half dosen actors in "The Great Galeoto," without explanatory announcements or intermissions, going from one to the other with a flow of dramatic conversation that never halts until the end of the act. Yet each character is made so clear by the intenations of the reader's voice that each is recognized instantly she speaks their lines. Pepito, the foolish boy; Donn Teadorn, the heroine; Don Julian, Etnesto, the British army officer, the scheming brother of Don Julian and his ambitious wife, even the servants have an Individual tone quality which instantly distinguishes them from the others as Mme. Labadie leaps from the slivery tinkle of Dona Teadora's voice to the gruff growl of the British officer or the world old story of the eternal triangle—a man, his wife, and the other man. The reading was under the auspices of the Woman's club.

Mme. Labadie will appear Monday night at the high school, for the benefit of the Athletic association.

Weddings

A very pretty wedding of the week was selemeized on Thursday afternoon when Miss Margaret Kerr and Leo Jacent Williams were united in marriage.

Rev. Charles L. Overstreet, of the First Presbyterian church, performed the ceremony. Miss Birdie Kerr, sister of the bride, was maid of honor, and the bridesmaids were Miss Carrie Steed, of Deming. N. M. and Miss Rosemary Felham. J. D. Mitchell was the best man. Mrs. David Olsen presided at the plane and played the wedding march from Mendelssohn as the bride entered with the maid of honor. The groom met her under an improvised wedding bell which hung in the dining room and the ring ceremony was used.

The house with its decorative scheme of green and white, was effective. Southern smiliax was used in profusion; also white roses.

Theb ride's gown was of white chiffon, en traine, over satin, and she wore a veil in the hood effect. She carried a shower bouquet of roses and lilies of the walley.

a shower bouquet of roses and lilies of the valley.

The mald of honor and the malds were pink chiffon dresses and carried pink roses.

After the ceremony, an informal reception was held and refreshments served. Funch was served during the evening by Miss Lettle Fruit.

In cutting the bride's cake, Miss Lenors Martin received the ring, which betokens, according to superstition, that Miss Martin will be the next bride.
